OMG! October is here! Let's look back at a busy September.

Megan and her children having a little mommy and me time with us.

Jemmy had recently moved to Beaufort and was looking to work with some glass. We've got you, girl!

Celebrating their beautiful mom. These two lovely ladies did just that!

Lene and Shiela wanted to have some girl time. They got more than they bargained for! We caught Lene creating art with her paint palette. Naturally, we had to point that out! As you can see, there was a lot of laughter regarding the smiley face palette.

Carolyn and Carissa not only had some mother and daughter time, but they too had to get in on the smiley face paint palette. I think it became a competition!

Lynn, Carmen and Netia are ALWAYS a fun time when they come in. Carmen sketched and painted her painting of Marilyn. She's quite talented!

Christian and Ashley spending some mother/daughter time together. ❤️

Lila and Lisa came in to make porch leaner signs for their front porch! Yep, we do that too!

Angel and Lorraine having fun on their 2nd annual girls trip! Hope y'all find your way back here

Kyler and Jules, on their first date.

Rebecca, Staci, Jamie, and Naomi were being creative. This is an adults only group of ladies....the best kind!

Angela's family celebrated her birthday with us! What a wonderful family! She raised some big boys! (Sorry Frank, I had to include the tongue out picture of you. Priceless!

Elena has been taking art lessons with us. Each week we do a different project! I think she's having fun.

When you get stuck in your apron and your friend has to rescue you!

Another fun paint and sip at Wet Willie's, Beaufort. We did crushed glass on canvas! Always a great time there!

Kandace Joy Palmer, left, owner of Southern Palette Art Studio in Beaufort, paints a police badge onto the cheek of Kamari Haynes, a 1st grader at Mossy Oaks Elementary School, during the Chill With A Cop event Monday afternoon at Southside Park. More than 50 school children took part in the event which included face painting, baseball with a soft foam ball and chance to sit in the cockpit of Beaufort County Sheriff's Office helicopter.
